INTRODUCTION

Dual banking system is a banking system that applied in Indonesia, besides conventional banking also Sharia banking. Both of these systems simultaneously apply both de facto and de jure, it is as a result of the need for the importance of participation of all components of society in national development, especially in the banking sector. To support the implementation of these two systems are required its regulation and supervision base on the positive law, so that it has the same status as part of the legal system of national banks. However, there are still many problems that can be implications legally of the existence of Sharia banking business in conducting business in Indonesia.

Various regulation and supervision of sharia banking in the system of national banking laws, among others, Act Number 23 Year 1999 on Bank Indonesia as amended by Act Number 3 Year 2004 and amended again a second time by Act Number 6 Year 2009; Act Number 7 Year 1992 on Banking as amended by Act Number 10 Year 1998, Act Number 21 Year 2008 on Islamic Banking, and Act Number 21 Year 2011 on the Financial Services Authority.

The number of regulations on supervision of Islamic banking does not always giving legal certainty guarantee in the implementation of the duties and authority of the banking supervisory agencies in the effort of institutional management and banking bussiness activity. Regulation and supervision of Islamic banking in the legislation even cause blurring of norms and can couse to conflict or disagreement norm. The blurring of norms that occurred in regulation and supervision of Islamic banking is such as authority regulation on Sharia compliance in Islamic banking.

The contradiction is seen in Article 34 sectio (1) of Act Number 23 Year 1999 on Bank Indonesia, mandates that: "The duty of bank supervision will be conducted by the supervisory board of financial services sector that independent, and is formed by legislation. However, after the issuance of Act Number 21 Year 2011 on the Financial Services Authority (FSA Act), Article 5 and Article 6 states that: FSA has the function to carry out the regulatory and supervisory system that is integrated to the whole of activities in the financial services sector ". The blurring of norms raises the juridical question, which one of institutions that has the right to regulate and supervise banks including in Islamic banking, is the central bank still responsible for organizing and supervising the Bank, or the FSA are only entitled to regulate and supervise the Bank, or both are still entitled to organize and supervise the Bank.

The blurring and contradiction of norms give rise to differences of interpretation both legally and in practice, so can result in legal problems in the implementation of the provisions of the regulation and supervision of Islamic banking. Because of still unclear legal rules governing the banking supervision related to the implementation of Sharia, so it is necessary to a thought and study on regulation and supervision of Islamic banking, so that in practice it does not happen the legal issues, with expectation in its implementation can be in line with the positive law and not contrary to Sharia Principle. This research will analyze a thought to measure a possibilities konfrehensifly about sharia banking supervision in provision of a clear and comprehensible, because of the differences of characteristics in Islamic banking activities.

It is with be receipted of the Bill of sharia banking become the Act Number 21 Year 2008 on Sharia Banking (Sharia Banking Act), which was legalized on July 16, 2008.

The effort of guidance and supervision of sharia banking affirmed in Article 50 of the Sharia Banking Act which states that, "Development and supervision of Sharia Banking and Sharia Business Unit (SBU) conducted by Bank Indonesia". According to these provisions means that Bank Indonesia has two heavy duties mainly as the builder of sharia banks, which requires Bank Indonesia to conduct supervision to Islamic banks to be able to adjust to the Islamic banking system at a time to align itself with the existence of conventional banking which had already existed. On the other hand, Bank Indonesia also has duty to supervise the sharia banking in Indonesia.

Functions and Authority of the Bank Indonesia After the Act Number 21 Year 2011 on the Financial Services Authority

Transfer planning of supervisory functions of Bank Indonesia to a new institution called the Financial Services Authority (FSA) should be considered carefully and cautiously. Therefore it is necessary to analyze closely the experience of countries that have done the same thing, including the possible adverse impact on the stability of the monetary and financial system. If the transferee in the end had to be done, is expected to be cautious and gradual, and through a process of careful preparation, both in terms of institutional and human resources.³

However, the Government especially the Ministry of Finance still intends to separate the functions of supervision of Bank Indonesia and incorporate them into the financial services supervisory agency that is now as a Financial Services Authority (FSA) is due to several reasons stated as follows:⁴

- a. The financial system which is based on the financial sector likely to cause systemic risk.
- b. The weakness of regulation and supervision of the financial sector conglomerates
- c. The globalization of the financial sector caused many financial transactions between countries so the existence foreign financial institution could threaten the domestic financial sector
- d. Anti-money laundering
- e. The growing financial institution products (e.g. unit-linked products and universal banking) are interlinked, so that it difficult for authorities to make the boundary demarcation of authority.

With the issuance of the Act Number 21 Year 2011 on the Financial Services Authority (FSA) was legalized on November 22, 2011, has moved the duties and authority of Bank Indonesia (BI) on the regulation and supervision of banking in Indonesia. Bank Indonesia only has a role in monetary policy is to maintain the stability of rupiah value. Functions, duties and authority of regulation and supervision of financial services activities of the Banking sector have turned to the Financial Services Authority (FSA) since December 31, 2013. Similarly, the functions, duties and powers of regulation and supervision in the sector of the Capital Market and Non-Bank Financial Institutions will move to the FSA since December 31, 2012.

After establishment of FSA, Bank Indonesia will focus on the authority only in terms of monetary policy are the policies to achieve and maintain rupiah stability are among others: through controlling inflation and exchange rates, the money supply, or the interest rate. This role can cause problems when the central bank that BI does not have access to comprehensive information about bank supervision sector. The central bank can basically put out the monetary policy due to pick the bank supervisory authority. In anticipation of this, it needs good coordination between the FSA and the BI, so that BI still exists in supporting the Indonesian economy.

After the authority of BI moves to FSA, so the function of BI as a lender of last resort only. Monetary policy is a policy that is to achieve and maintain stability in the rupiah which is conducted through the control of the money supply or interest rates. This role may eventually there will be a problem when the central bank that BI does not have access to comprehensive information about bank supervision sector. Therefore, the central bank can issue a good monetary policy because it has a bank supervision authority. In anticipation of this, we need good coordination between the FSA and the Bank of Indonesia, so that Bank Indonesia still obtains direct access to the banking sector.

Regulation and Supervision of Islamic Banks by the Financial Services Authority (FSA)

To implement the national economy that is able to grow in a sustainable and stable required activities in the financial services sector are held regularly, fair, transparent and accountable and be able to realize the financial system to grow in a sustainable and stable, and capable of protecting the interests of consumers and the public, so that the necessary FSA which has the functions, duties, and authority to regulate and supervise the activities in the financial services sector in an integrated, independent and accountable.

Therefore, since December 31, 2012, the functions, duties and authority of the regulatory and supervisory activities of the financial services sector Capital Markets, Insurance, Pension Funds, Financing Agency and the Institute of Financial Services Other switch from the Capital Market Supervisory Agency and Financial Institution (Ministry Finance) to the Financial Services Authority (FSA). Thus since the functions, duties and authority of regulation and supervision of financial services activity in the banking sector moved from BI to the FSA. Regulation and supervision of the institutional, health, aspects of prudential and bank inspection is the scope of micro prudential regulation and supervision that become duties and authority of the FSA. As for the scope of macro prudential regulation and supervision is the duty and authority of the central bank. Therefore, the authority of BI is only in terms of monetary policy as the policies to achieve and maintain stability in the rupiah which is done through the control of inflation and exchange rates, the money supply, and or interest rate.

With switching functions, duties and authority of BI to the FSA then position the FSA is very strong in regulated and supervised banking. However, the FSA in the implementation of the functions, duties and authorities usually coordinate with Bank Indonesia to support Banking business activity.

With the promulgation of Act Number 21 Year 2011 on the Financial Services Authority (FSAA) is the legal basis of the FSA as an independent agency to carry out the functions, duties and authority of regulation and supervision of financial services activity in the banking sector. This is confirmed in Article 1 which states that "the Financial Services Authority, hereinafter abbreviated as the FSA, is an institution that is independent and free from interference by other parties, which have the functions, duties, and authority of regulation, supervision, inspection, and investigation as referred to in the Act". With the release of these laws then the role of FSA is stronger

The duties and authority of the FSA confirmed in Article 7, which states that, in order to carry out the duty of regulation and supervision in the banking sector as referred to in Article 6 a, that FSA has the authority namely:

- h. determines the organizational structure and infrastructure, as well as manage, maintain, and administer its assets and liabilities; and

- i. determine the regulation concerning the procedures for the imposition of sanctions in accordance with the provisions of the legislation in the financial services sector.

Furthermore, in Article 9, it is stated that, in order to carry out the duty of supervision as referred to in Article 6, the FSA has the authority to:

- (1) determine operational policy supervision of the financial services activities;
- (2) supervising the implementation of supervisory duties carried out by the Chief of Executive;

Although there has been moved the functions, duties and authority of regulation and supervision of financial services activities from BI to the FSA but both of these financial institutions continue to implement cooperative relationship. This is manifested by the presence of the Joint Decree of BI and the FSA on October 18, 2013. Cooperation and coordination within the framework of the implementation of duties BI and the FSA in order to create a stable financial system and sustainable regulated in the Joint Decision with the basic principle is collaborative, improve efficiency, and efectivity, avoid duplication , completing financial sector regulation, and ensure the smooth implementation of the duties of Bank Indonesia and the FSA.⁷

Base on the description above, with the promulgation of FSAA, the duties and authority of the BI switch to the FSA as mandated in Article 34 (1) of BI Act that "The duty of bank supervision will be carried out by the supervisory board for the independent financial services sector, and is formed by legislation. The provision is contrary to Article 5 and Article 6 of FSAA containing that "the FSA has function organized system of regulation and supervision that is integrated to the overall activities in the financial services sector". This shows their conflicts and haziness of norms regarding which institution has the right to regulate banking institutions including sharia, so that giving rise to a conflict of authority among institutions in terms of regulation and supervision of banks and sharia.

To avoid legal uncertainty in supporting the implementation of the duties and authority of the Bank Indonesia and the FSA in the regulation and supervision of banking, so it is necessary cooperation and coordination in line with the BI Act and FSAA, include:⁸

1. Cooperation and coordination in the implementation of the dutys according to the authority.
2. Financial Services Institutions information exchange and management reporting system of banks and finance companies by the Bank Indonesia and the FSA;
3. Use of property and documents that are owned and/or used BI by the FSA,
4. Management BI officials and employees who transferred or employed at the FSA.

Existence of Sharia Supervisory Board (SSB) in Sharia Banking Supervision

The existence and role of the Sharia Supervisory Board (SSB) is an independent body that have duty to give direction, consultancy, evaluation, and monitoring (supervision) the activities of sharia banks in order to ensure that the operations of the sharia bank comply (compliance) against sharia principles as determined by the fatwa and Islamic law.¹¹

Sharia Supervisory Board is a uniqueness that is owned by the Islamic financial institutions. This organization consists of Sharia scholars who oversee and monitor the activities of financial institutions to ensure that these institutions comply with the principles of sharia.¹² The presence of the Sharia Supervisory Board is one of the main things that differentiate between Conventional banks with sharia banks. The main duty of SSB is to supervise the implementation of bank operation and its products so as not to deviate from the rules of sharia.¹³

CONCLUSIONS

Conclusion

1. Various regulations concerning sharia banking regulation and supervision, among others, the Banking Act and the Act of Bank Indonesia. Both of these Acts provide a large role in Bank Indonesia in the regulation and supervision of banking; consist of the institutional banks, health of banks, prudential aspects of the bank, and bank inspection. After issued of FSAA, so the duties and authority of the BI switch to the FSA as mandated in Article 34 (1) of Bank Indonesia Act that "The duties of bank supervision will be carried out by the supervisory board for the independent financial services sector, and is formed by legislation. The provision is contrary to Article 5 and Article 6 of FSAA containing that "the FSA to function organized system of regulation and supervision that is integrated to the overall activities in the financial services sector". This shows that there are conflicts and vagueness of norms regarding which institution has the right to regulate banking institutions including sharia banking, so that arise a conflict of authority among institutions in terms of regulation and supervision of banking and sharia banking.

2. Existence of each banking supervisors institution in the implementation of the regulation and supervision of sharia banking is in accordance with the role include: the role of BI before the issuance of FSA Act is very strong, as is authorized to enact regulations, giving and revoking the license of institutional and banking business activities, conducting supervision, inspection and the imposition of sanctions, oblige to provide guidance both preventive and repressive. However, the establishment of FSA, the authorized was taken over by the FSA. The authority of BI only related to the matters relating to monetary policy are the policies to achieve and maintain rupiah stability which is done through controlling inflation and exchange rates, the money supply, or the interest rate. The authority of the Board of Commissioners is to supervise the management of the sharia banking and business activities, provide advice to the Board of Directors for the interests of the Company and in accordance with the aims and objectives of the Company. While the SSB role is to supervise and provide guidance, consultation, evaluation of the activities of sharia banks to ensure that the business activities of sharia banks comply with the principles of the sharia as determined by the fatwa and sharia.

Suggestion

Based on the above conclusions, it can be suggested that:

1. It is necessary reanalyze towards the Financial Services Authority Act (FSAA) in accordance with the rule of Article 6, 8 and 9 of FSAA, because it is still blurring the norm. Article 8 states that the FSA carrying out the duty of supervision as referred to in Article 6"; as well as in Article 9, states the FSA carrying out supervisory duties "as referred to in Article 6". While that is referred to in Article 6, that the duty of the FSA is carrying out the duty, namely a combination of regulation and supervision of banks. In addition it should be reviewed again the provision of Article 5 and 6 FSAA contrary to Article 34 (1) Bang Indonesia Act. The lack of consistent can cause legal uncertainty in the implementation of the functions, duties and authority of regulation and banking supervision, which in turn lead to losses for banks in conducting efforts.

2. Because of the duties and authority of the FSA is also too broad, should regulation and supervision of bank institution returned only into duty and authority of Bank Indonesia, such as about licensing and establishment of banks, opening bank offices, the basic budget, work plan, ownership, management and resources human resources, mergers, consolidation and acquisitions of banks. This is because Bank Indonesia is the central bank that it should have the functions, duties and authority to control all activities and institutional banking.
3. The FSA in implementing its functions, duty, and authority to conduct sharia banking regulation and supervision should always coordinate with Bank Indonesia and other regulatory agencies such as the Board of Commissioners and the Sharia Supervisory Board, in order to avoid overlapping duties and authority that can harm the banking institution.
